AUTUMN ESSENTIALS — Hospitality —

Build your uniform from head to toe

Not all catering workwear is the same. Alexandra design garments that suit the role and the environment in which they will be worn to ensure comfort, quality and practicality.

As well as offering you a full range of garments, accessories and footwear to protect you from head to toe, all Alexandra products are guaranteed for two years and are independently tested to meet our exacting standards of manufacture and performance.

Get smart with branding

Branding your workwear is a quick, convenient and cost effective way of enhancing the appearance of your team.

It is possible to convert any logo, company brand name or design into intricate, full-colour embroidery and place it onto a multitude of garments shown within this catalogue.

Don't have a logo?

No problem!

You can have your company name embroidered onto your chosen workwear in a huge range of colours and typefaces and in a variety of positions on the garment.

Build your uniform from head to toe

Job role: Waitress

Whether serving food at a table or over a counter, your uniform needs to look clean, crisp and contemporary. Classic combinations are best - a traditional shirt or blouse, a practical, easy-to wear apron, trousers and a pair of comfortable shoes. These are the essentials for both men and women in modern food service.

Choose colours that co-ordinate with your branding - whether your look is young and bright or elegant and sophisticated. Our beautifully made polyester/ cotton shirts are perfect for these types of roles. Available in either black or white with brightly contrasting sleeve tab and inner collar options, the shirts can be matched to a wide variety of other garments and perform exceptionally well, wash after wash.

Build your uniform from head to toe

Job role: Chef

Protection, practicality and comfort are the essential features that we consider when designing chefswear.

Protective - densely woven, high quality fabrics keep scalding spills and spits away from your skin, whilst ceramic and Teflon coatings to repel stains.

Practical - short and long sleeved options, hidden pockets, elasticated waistbands and fabrics that can withstand industrial laundering.

Comfortable - moisture-wicking fabrics and clever mesh panels keep you cool in the steamiest conditions.

“A chef’s skull cap looks professional, keeps your head dry and protects food from stray hair and this heavy duty apron gives extra protection and looks super-smart”

Build your uniform from head to toe

Job role: Cleaner

Indoor cleaning roles require garments that are light and flexible but also protective.

Light - the Alexandra tabard has been a favourite for all kinds of indoor cleaning roles. It's easy to pop over other garments or to form part of a formal uniform.

Flexible - the simple shape and extendable side fastenings mean that a tabard can be worn over a t-shirt or bulkier, warmer garments if needed. It's perfect for embroidering with your company brand.

Protective - made from a densely-woven 195gsm polyester cotton mix, the Alexandra tabard will protect from light splashes and grime. Make sure that your staff are provided with non-slip, comfortable shoes such as these Anvil loafer-style shoes - ideal for workers who are on their feet throughout a busy shift.

“These shoes are comfortable, and protect your feet from slips and spills”

Embroider it!

Embroidery is a fast and effective way to create instant, quality branding on your workwear.

Job role: Facilities management

In facilities management roles, your staff play the important role of a front-line army - to protect, maintain essential services and solve sudden or unexpected problems in the running of your buildings and infrastructure.

Workers in these roles need to work in widely varied environments, clothing needs to be flexible, able to be layered, robust and well-designed to allow movement and protection.

Appearance is important - especially if you provide a service on your customers premises. As well as conveying professionalism and confidence, your staff need to be easily recognised and clearly branded with your company name. Tungsten is a perfect choice.

Personalise your workwear

Embroidery

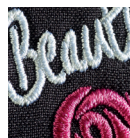

It is possible to digitise and convert any type style or logo into high quality, durable embroidery in hundreds of colours.

Printing

If you are looking for large volumes of garments to be personalised, it could be better for you to consider having your garments printed, with bold, permanent full-colour images, logos and designs. The choice of finish will depend on your needs, the fabric and volume required.

Claim back tax on your workwear

In order to identify your workwear as being tax-deductible, it is possible to create woven badges and labels which can be sewn to the garments.

Embroidery

Direct embroidery, suitable for most garments. No minimum quantities.

Screen printing

Ink-based application, ideal for complex designs and large quantities.

Vinyl printing

Reflection free. Heat applied to garment. Best for simple colour logos with small quantities.

Digital printing

Heat applied transfers. Unlimited colours. Suitable for detailed designs.
